Robin Marks is the Long Island Regional Director for Amber Court

Assisted Living in Westbury, New York Ms. Marks has developed operational and collaborative relationships with nursing homes and she has been a leader in the local long term care field since joining the Amber Court organization as the Director of Community Relations. (skilled nursing facilities) and other long term care providers within the continuum of care for the elderly and chronically disabled throughout her leadership role. In her current position, she develops and implements models of care for assuring that patients/residents experience appropriate transitions and levels of service among long term care provider organizations. She further conducts cooperative provider programs to facilitate the understanding of long term care services (including the New York State Medicaid Assisted Living Program) as a community education facilitator, outreach liaison and seminar leader. With her marketing skills and patient/resident assessment knowledge, Ms. Marks works with both providers of long term care services, family members and the patients/residents to determine the proper care levels and living environment arrangements.

Ms. Marks is instrumental in strategically planning and implementing the community and provider based programs for patient/resident assessment and admission to new long term care operations of the Amber Court Assisted Living. She strives to be a valuable resource for the elderly and chronically disabled and is committed to improving the quality of life for the most vulnerable of the "golden citizens". This is reflected in her support, participation, and membership in several key organizations, including the Gerontology Professionals of New York, Senior Umbrella Network, Long Island Coalition for the Aging, Alzheimer's Disease Resource Center, Alzheimer's Association of Long Island, Long Island Alzheimer's Foundation, and the National Aging in Place Council.

Ms. Marks, a graduate of the State University of New York at Old Westbury, considers “matchmaking” of the patient/resident to appropriate provider service as the essence of her focus and success. She delights in helping people find the right answers at a delicate time in their lives. Recognizing that it does indeed “take a village”, she also prides herself in being well-connected – and enabling feature to effectively share resources and services for the benefit of all.
